Friends of SEGD stand out as the longtime supporters and champions of the next generation of creatives. Their yearlong support provides critical programming support to our youngest members and students. Friends of SEGD earn yearlong visibility online, in the newsletter, and at the Academic Summit.

Some Friends are looking for recruiting visibility. Others are looking for visibility among the numerous clients who visit SEGD.org for design inspiration and referrals. And then, there are the Friends who simply want to give back to an organization that has given so much to them.

LET’S GET TOGETHER
[EVEN IF WE’RE APART]
Events

While the pandemic kept us apart, virtual events brought us together. Together in celebration of the best of the best in experiential graphic design and practice, together to share best practices and methods, and together in solidarity to build a better world through design.

Next year will provide more opportunities for connection and inspiration—both virtual and in-person.

Plus, numerous Chapter Events held throughout the world. Keep an eye out for events here.

Where will we find you in 2021?

Recognition

Good work needs to be recognized. Excellent work needs to be celebrated. That’s why SEGD provides numerous opportunities to get your work both seen and celebrated. Plus, SEGD.org ranks highly in Google search results, ensuring your work rises to the top of the stack, every time. Don’t miss this vital opportunity to showcase your work and amplify its exposure!

Member News

The launch of a new project, a big promotion, a new product—share your news with us by emailing it to segd@segd.org. Our typical turn-around is 1-week to post. Once it posts, it will rotate from the homepage of segd.org and live indefinitely in your Member Bio, Firm Listing, and the Xplore Index. One member news post is promoted via the weekly e-newsletter to 49k recipients, and all are shared on Twitter.
Blog Posts & Feature Stories

Articles that dive deeper into a project, partnership and/or case study receive top-billing on SEGD.org, shared online, and promoted through the newsletter and social media. Typical feature stories are seen 10x more often than a member news post. Features are written and curated by SEGD staff.

Blog Posts are thought-pieces that you curate and write. We look for blogs that are a series, are provocative and thought-provoking, reveal new perspectives, or show examples of design thinking in action.

SHARE YOUR STORY IDEAS

Global Design Awards

This is the #1 way to earn major kudos, visibility and a permanent “award-winning” label beside your name. But you have to enter to win! Approximately 400 entries are submitted for awards each year and typically less than 10% are awarded.

When you win, your project gets promoted online, in the press, across social media, in feature stories; it’s published in the SEGD Awards Annual; and it becomes a benchmarked against and referenced by members, prospective clients, and students across the globe; and lastly, you’re firm becomes more competitive in recruiting top talent.

This is your #1 sales and recruiting tool. Make it count! Learn more here.
